The Williams Place

HABS No. SC-615

Location: Located on Cane Creek, on South Carolina Secondary Road 113, 3/4 mile north of the intersection with South Carolina Secondary Road 235, in Glenn Springs, Spartanburg County, South Carolina

Date of Construction: c. 1839-1850

Architect/Designer:

Present Use: Residence

Significance: The Williams Place is a rural agricultural and residential complex developed between c. 1839 and c. 1850 by a farmer, Robert Rogers Williams for him and his family. The property includes ten log structures and four other buildings and structures associated with the farm. The complex is representative of the diverse aspects of rural farm life and management in the 19th century. It reflects the vernacular building tradition of the upcountry and is the most intact collection of log buildings that has been identified in the State.

The Williams Place was listed in the National Register of Historic Places on November 10, 1982.
